

Athens Post.

Athens, Friday, January 18, 1874.

Removal.

The office of the Post has been removed to the old stand, in the east end of the town.

Apologistic.

The editor has been absent a portion of the week, and unable to give the usual attention to the general make-up of the paper.

For Tax Collector.

We are authorized and requested to announce G. W. JACK as a candidate for Tax Collector of McMinn county, at the ensuing August election.

Tanners' Tanners!

I have on hand some 50 or 60 good Beef Hides for sale. B. F. MARTIN. Calhoun, Tenn., Jan. 9, 1874.

You can dispose of all your Barter at the cheap Cash and Barter Store, one door off the Public Square. HAYLEY.

Paints, Oils, Books, Glass, and all other merchandise at "South Corner," for sale very low up to February 1st, when all remaining Goods will be turned over to J. H. Reed. Jan. 16, St.

Organized.

The new municipal board organized by electing J. S. Matthews to the office of Mayor; Lon Blizard, Recorder; and G. W. Standifer, Town Marshal—for current year.

Just Printed!!

At Thos. T. McWhirter's Job Printing Office a large lot of BLANKS for Justices of the Peace, Warrants, Executions, Subpoenas, State Warrants, etc. Price 90 cents per quire. It.

County Representative.

The communication suggesting a candidate for County Representative is rejected, because the writer failed to send his proper name along. It is full early to go into that business yet.

From Atlanta.

The following is from Messrs. Stephens & Flynn, of the 10th instant: Corn and meat advancing and firm at 85 to 86 for corn. Bulk meats 8 cents for shoulders, 10 1/2 for clear rib sides, 9 1/2 for clear sides and 11 for hams. Oats, 68 to 70.

Educational.

Miss Bridges' School opened last Monday with a good attendance.

Mrs. Sullivan's School—Athens Female Seminary—will open next Monday, the 19th—we hope with a large number of pupils.

Eggs, Butter, &c.

T. F. Gibson is now shipping Eggs East, and will pay cash for all that are offered. Will also continue to buy and ship Butter, Corn, Wheat, Oats and Lard. Go and see him. January 9, 1874.

Coal Oil at the Cash and Barter Store—W. C. Hayley.

Monday House, Cleveland.

Attention is invited to the Card of the above house. Capt. Monday knows what good living is, and feeds splendidly at moderate prices. He is one of our sort, born and raised under the old Constitution, and believes there is more genuine religion in one square meal than in a half dozen drinks of cheap whisky. Give him a call when you have occasion to pass that way.

A nice lot of Glassware at Hayley's.

County Appropriations.

The Worshipful County Court of McMinn made the following appropriations at the January term, 1874: For paupers, $1,200.00; for Bridges and General County Expenses, $1,087.21. Total, $2,287.21. We understand that more than three fourths of the taxes of the county have been collected.

Municipal Statement.

Attention is invited to the statement of Mr. Dement, City Recorder, for the past year. It will be seen that the affairs of the municipality are all right. Mr. Dement made an excellent Recorder, and, without disparagement to the gentleman who succeeds him, we regret the municipality is no longer to have his services in that capacity.

Death.

Miss KATE WESTER, daughter of C. C. Wester, of this place, died at the Moravian Seminary, Bethlehem, Pa., Jan. 9, 1874. Deceased had entered her 17th year, and was a most amiable and interesting young lady. Her remains reached here last Sunday evening, and were interred on Monday.

A new stock of Goods at Hayley's.

The Read House, Chattanooga.

We are a plain, blunt man, and when we have any thing to say employ as few words as will cover the case. The Read House, Chattanooga, is one of the best hotels we ever stopped at. It is commodiously arranged and genteelly furnished throughout; has a capable steward and plenty of well-trained servants; the tables are well supplied and well attended, and above all, a hostess constantly watching of the comforts of her guests. In the office are two gentlemen and courteous clerks—W. G. Gant, formerly of Nashville, and W. N. Lewis, of Cleveland, whom everybody up this way knows—so that the entire appointments of the establishment are near about perfect. A really good hotel is a public blessing. Such we esteem the Read House, and our friends can ascertain whether we are right or not by calling there the next time they visit Chattanooga. The location is immediately in front of the Passenger Depot, turning neither to the right hand nor to the left.

Local Briefs.

The head of the household thanks Mrs. Allen Boone for a basket of nice yams.

Only about one-sixth of the taxes for McMinn county remain unpaid to date.

Circuit Court at Benton next Monday. Dr. Garner will attend to any business over that way for the Post.

Communication with the Interior is interrupted to some extent in consequence of the late rains.

It is said that the Grangers of East Tennessee as soon as they get fully organized, will make a dive for the "undeveloped resources." The Athenian bud who blossoms for the Chattanooga Commercial semi-occasionally, is notified that the "hole in the ground" referred to in his last is not for sale on any terms.

The Ocoee House, Cleveland, is crowded with guests from Pennsylvania, who have sought refuge in "our genial climate" from the rigors of a northern winter.

I am paying no rents—no clerks fees—selling no Goods on time, and, consequently, customers may expect to get Goods LOW DOWN for Cash or Barter. Come right along.
